

Driving Results for Donation and Transplantation Professionals

The Art and Science of Leadership: Driving Results for Donation and Transplantation Professionals was developed by the Gift of Life Institute in 2016 and is a multi-faceted certificate program specifically designed to address the needs of donation and transplantation professionals. The unique design of this course combines deep industry knowledge from leaders in the organ and tissue donation field with academic expertise from two of the world's leading universities.

Face to Face Learning over a six month period (March – October 2019) at the Chubb Hotel and Conference Center, Lafayette Hill, PA: Participants gain a cross-functional view through sessions led by Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania instructors specializing in experiential learning, and one-on-one project plan mentoring from industry leaders. The Art and Science of Leadership: Driving Results for Donation and Transplantation Professionals is designed to help both emerging and experienced leaders master core business concepts and build key skills in:

- Transformational Leadership
- Change Management
- Talent Acquisition
- Performance Management
- Team Building
- Strategic Planning
- Organizational Culture & Emotional Intelligence

Virtual Classroom Training (April through September 2019, Online): Designed to complement face-to-face sessions with a more tactical approach. Virtual classroom training combines online resources and monthly webinars led by Fox School of Business at Temple University instructors.

Final Session and Graduation (October 2019): Presentation of Capstone projects, final lectures and wrap-up.